ANYWAY, COME TO THINK OF IT, HAVING A HALLOWEEN PARTY AT THIS TIME OF YEAR...
IT MAY HAVE BEEN A SUDDEN DECISION, BUT IT'S TOO EARLY. SOMETHING'S UP.
OH, NOW THAT YOU MENTION IT, THERE WAS A MEETING EARLIER.
YEAH? YEAH? DID THEY SAY ANYTHING THERE?!
I WAS ASLEEP...

Postscript

★ Hello. I'm Majiko!. This is the conclusion--volume 2. First, thank you for your support. And good work, me! (Ha ha!)

★ Actually, at first we talked about St. Lunatic High School as a one-chapter short. But it got longer bit-by-bit, and I was able to draw two volumes' worth. All of it is thanks to all you who supported me. Really. Thank you very much.

★ I would like to talk just a little about the characters...
The most popular character in St. Lunatic is Ren-kun, but while I intended to have him be a cool character that can do anything, I got more and more comments saying, "He's a natural!" I myself didn't intend for him to come across that way at all, so I was surprised. I've also been told, "All of your characters are naturals!" Is that so?! (Ha ha!) About Eden-kun's skirt thing...I think it might be hard to tell from the angles it's always drawn at, but it has a rose print on it. Incidentally, I also took the name "Eden" from the name of a rose. Finally, about Niko-chan...her brightness, her optimism, her strength, her indomitable spirit that doesn't sweat the small stuff... Actually, I may have put all my wishes of what I want to be like into her. (But for some strange reason, I'm told I'm a lot like her already.)
At any rate, they're all characters I put a lot of thought into. The story of St. Lunatic High School has ended, but I would really be happy if you would always hold this work dear.

★ I think I would like to keep on trying new works. I'll do my best.
And I sincerely thank you for reading.

Special thanks! Kitamura-chin (thanks for being my assistant! ♥), friends, family (heh heh), my editor W-san (thinking "mistake"!), my editor K-san (COOL!) (Ha ha!)
